Gift Registry Made Simple

More couples say “I do” to Calphalon.

Founded in 1963 by a Toledo, Ohio entrepreneur and food enthusiast, Calphalon once made products exclusively for the restaurant and food service industries. Calphalon cookware has its roots in the commercial kitchen.

In the late 1960s, the company adapted an electro-chemical method of treating raw aluminum, called hard anodising. This process altered the surface of the metal and made it harder than stainless steel. It also changed the colour of the aluminum to the matte dark gray that has become a Calphalon signature. This durable, high-performance cookware caught the attention of American consumers and helped launch the gourmet movement of the 1970s.

For nearly 30 years, Calphalon has been the stuff that dream kitchens are made of. No other cookware enjoys the same long-standing reputation for quality as Calphalon. No other company has earned it—or started so many couples on their way to a delicious future.

At Calphalon, we think cookware should be like true love. Dependable. Inspirational. And it should last forever. Like you, we’ve made a commitment. Ours is to be a true partner in the kitchen.
